

In support of fair and equitable distributions to creditors

To: The Honorable Martin Glenn
Chief Bankruptcy Judge
United States Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York
Alexander Hamilton U.S. Custom House
One Bowling Green, New York, NY 10004

Dear Judge Glenn,

To date, I have only received 20% of the Ethereum I lent to Celsius. I received a small portion of that in Bitcoin even though, I did not lend Bitcoin to Celsius. I cannot get an answer from Stretto about the percentage that should be distributed to the creditors. Can you require the debtor to inform their creditors exactly what percentage of the total amount lent to Celsius is being distributed back to creditors.? I also have read other posts and I agree that the substantial rise in the value of cryptocurrencies should not benefit Celsius, while holding the creditor's cryptocurrencies, especially after the bankruptcy was finalized in December 2023.

Thank you for your kind consideration in this matter

Nicholas Piscatelli

Nicholas Piscatelli 4/3/24

in support of fair and equitable distributions to creditors

and the Honorable Martin Glenn

Chief Bankruptcy Judge

United States Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York

Alexander Hamilton U.S. Courthouse

One Bowling Green, New York, NY 10004

Dear Judge Glenn,

To date, I have only received 20% of the $100,000 I lent to Calmest. I received a letter dated 01/10/24 from BNCN even though I did not lend BNCN to Calmest. I am not an

Can you require the debtor to inform their creditors exactly what percentage of the total amount lent to Calmest is being distributed back to creditors? I also have many other debts and I agree that the substantial rise in the value of my businesses should not be Calmest's fault. Including the creditor's expenses, especially after the bankruptcy was filed in January of 2023.

I trust you will give your kind consideration in this matter.

With best regards,

